Management issued financial guidance for FY2009 forecasting gross revenues between US$64 to $72 million and net income between US$8 and $12 million after taxes and before foreign currency translation gains or losses. This guidance represents sales for AMDL's China-based operations only and does not include sales for the Company's DR-70 (FDP) cancer test or Elleuxe® human placenta extract (HPE) based skin care line. AMDL believes anticipated revenues from these products could potentially result in an additional US$25 million in gross revenues in FY2009.
